

BRONSON BURGOON ( -11)

Q. (In progress) birdies in a seven-hole stretch. Tell me about the day.

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, it was good. I holed some putts, that's what I didn't do yesterday. I felt like I actually hit the ball better yesterday. So if I start putting like I did today and hit it like I did yesterday, should be pretty good the next two days.

Q. We'll see how scores shake out, but right now you'd be playing in that final group. Does that mean anything to you?

BRONSON BURGOON: I don't know. I mean, really, it's good that I played well because I haven't played well for a long time so that part of it's nice, but no, there's still so much golf left.

Q. You and Camilo playing in the same group, did you do any drafting off of him?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, I tried to just get behind, do what he was doing. He made it look pretty easy yesterday. Made a few putts today.

Q. Second round 63. We were just talking about the different conditions between yesterday and today. How were you able to click and get a little more aggressive today or was it just a better day for you ball-striking-wise?

BRONSON BURGOON: I hit it better yesterday, but with that wind it was tough to get really close. My only bogey yesterday was a three-putt and I don't know, I don't think I missed but one fairway yesterday. I hit it really well yesterday, didn't get anything to go in, didn't convert on the par 5s when I was right there. Today I just made a few more putts and I kept it really in play and I hit a couple good iron shots.

Q. Results-wise, if you look at the last few weeks, seems like it has been a struggle. When you come out and you have these two rounds, did something click earlier in the week that you knew this was coming or does it just show up?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, no, it's been a struggle for a while. I made the decision to take on some changes that I felt like I needed to make to be able to compete out here. So for the last six, seven months it's been pretty frustrating, but I'm working towards something and I felt it in Vegas coming along. Even though I missed my last couple cuts, but I've had some nice moments and yeah, it's good. I'm looking forward to the rest of the year, next year.
