

BRANDON WU

Q. Just take-aways on the week. You got to feel pretty good about the week overall, or --

BRANDON WU: Yeah. I felt like coming into the week, I knew I would probably play well, and if I played how I wanted to, I would have to a good shot a winning. Yeah, I felt like coming down the back nine, I don't know, maybe a couple back, and that was a good position to be in. And, yeah, a little disappointed not to have the putts fall today. I missed a couple short ones. But overall, yeah, the game feels really good, and looking forward to whatever's next.

Q. Was there a particular part of your game you're most pleased with this week, or all, or were different days --

BRANDON WU: No, I think my -- I would say my wedges and short game really stood out to me. I think that was something I definitely wanted to improve on after last year. And so it's cool seeing this week, hit lots of good short game shots. Yeah, I think my iron play was consistent, which is good. But, yeah, I think the short game and the wedges was going to say.

Q. And then last question. Obviously, being out here in the big stage is where you want to be. How much can a week like this -- even though you didn't get the win, you played well, you got to maybe feel like you belong out here somewhat.

BRANDON WU: Yeah, I mean, I think it's just kind of another page in the book. You kind of just keep adding to the confidence. I always think kind of like a brick at a time, and you build up a more stable foundation, so when I do get out here, hopefully soon, I will be really ready to go and hopefully contending.
