

RICKIE FOWLER (-5)

Q. Rickie, after a 64 on day one, a 73 today, what was the biggest different between the two days?

RICKIE FOWLER: I really just struggled to get things going. I mean, as you guys could feel and see, it was a bit breezier this afternoon. It was a little gusty, it was tough to get numbers right or hit your lines in general. Felt like I did an okay job off the tee, but not playing from the fairway at times makes it tougher when it is windy as well. So, yeah, I just struggled to get looks at birdie and make it as simple as it was yesterday.

We hung in there. Happened to make a few good pars out there, which wasn't a terrible thing. It wasn't just playing easy. I know some guys played well and posted some numbers, Tony played well to make his way into the weekend. Yeah, it is what it is.

Q. Seeing how low the scores are here this week, what do you expect it will take this weekend to give yourself a chance?

RICKIE FOWLER: We'll see. I mean, it depends. If it gets breezy like it was today, no one's going to necessarily run away with it, but if the breeze is down, then you've got to go make birdies. So we'll see. With where things are at right now, it will probably be a stretch for someone to get to 20, but it's not out of the question. Just need to go make a bunch of birdies tomorrow and go put myself in a position for Sunday.
