

ROUND 2 INTERVIEW
February 10, 2023

JIM FURYK (E)

JIM FURYK: (in progress) at the same course in 1994, Billy Casper would bring a group of Americans over, both amateurs and professionals. And the golf course has changed since, but we visited Marrakesh and Rabat, so it's nice to be back. The golf course has changed, it's gotten much more difficult and it's beat up on me for a couple days.

Q. How does it compare from you playing here on this course in Dar Es Salam from maybe other parts of the world?

JIM FURYK: You know, I think everywhere is going to have its own characteristics, be a little bit different, but this reminds me a little bit of California in the United States, a lot of the same grass, kikuyu grass in the fairways, you have the eucalyptus trees. It kind of reminds me of, even the weather a little bit, like Los Angeles at times when we play the L.A. Open at Riviera Country Club, similar style. The golf course itself is, I think it's a beautiful golf course, it's a nice walk. The bunkering is dramatic with the big sidewalls and the greens are very, very difficult, they're very severe.
