HARRISON FRAZAR (-11, won 1st playoff hole)

Q. Harrison, it's been a long time coming. Emotions?

HARRISON FRAZAR: Emotions are all-time high right now. I'm filled up with appreciation with humbleness. I'm so happy. So proud of what I've done, what Mark's done, what my family's done and everything we've been through, especially lately. So this means a bunch, it means a lot.

You wonder if you really can do it, you wonder if you've still got it, and to be able to see that putt roll in the hole, gosh, what a feeling.

Q. Lanny Wadkins talked about coming off the 10th tee, it was important for you to stay patient. You've done nothing wrong, just making a bunch of pars. How were you able to stay patient from 11 on?

HARRISON FRAZAR: You know, all day the wind was just kind of up and down. You were out there. It was moving side to side. I really didn't feel like -- to Lanny's point, I didn't think -- I just had to wait and pick my spots. I knew I was playing well enough, I knew I had the par 5s coming up. You've got to get through some of those tricky horseshoe shots back there on that par 3, you've got to just get around some of that stuff. I just tried to stick with the game plan the whole time.

Q. Birdie at 15 after kind of popping a little 3-wood up and hanging up in the rough.

HARRISON FRAZAR: Yeah, 16.

Q. Right, 16. How important was that little 75-yarder?

HARRISON FRAZAR: I was mad at myself. I can reach that hole with that wind if I hit a good 3-wood and a hybrid and I just whiffed it. That's my bread and butter, that's my favorite club. So missing it at that time kind of irritated me.

But hitting that wedge shot up there close, I was just trying to get it to land somewhere on the bottom and bounce up there six, eight, 10 feet right, but to get up there close is nice.

Q. Started the year without really any status and kind of played yourself into all this. Now you get to go to Hualalai, you're exempt for a while. How important is that for you?

HARRISON FRAZAR: It's a major relief to me and my family. Like I said, we went through a lot. I stopped playing there for a while. I joined some organizations, I got some jobs. You know, I did other things not knowing, but always knowing that I wanted to do this.

So I thank everybody that supported me along that way and all the people at Benchmark Bank and Title have been unbelievable family to me to give me this chance to let me do this.
