

East Lake Cup Women – Stroke Play Singles
October 30, 2023

COACH GERROD CHADWELL
Texas A&M

Q. Tough day, tough golf course. What did you make how your team fared?

COACH GERROD CHADWELL: Oh, you know, we had two really big numbers, Zoe had one and Mia had the other one. You know, you try and position yourself for match play and really the score is 0-0 right now. We're just going to try and get three points against Stanford tomorrow, and I think that's doable. That's going to kind of be our message tonight.

Q. Anything change going into match play strategy-wise or that you want to see differently tomorrow?

COACH GERROD CHADWELL: No. We have two very new faces here right now because we have some players that played in the World Am. Just hopefully they flushed the nerves today and now it's just a reminder those big numbers are just the loss of a hole now, it doesn't equate to a big score at the end of the day. Really just trying to focus on that. It's going to be tougher, so you might not see a lot of good shots. We'll be ready to go when our name's called on the first tee.

Q. Speaking of those nerves, what's it like getting the experience for those younger players in an event with a format like this and with the cameras rolling?

COACH GERROD CHADWELL: It's invaluable. We graduate three out of our top-5 this year, so for some new faces to get the feel of this and understand playing well in this format is what it took to get here is just going to be the message we take home to them. Hopefully that will change their practice a little bit, change what they think of themselves at home. That's all we could ask for.

