MACKENZIE HUGHES (-19)

Q. What worked so well this week?

MACKENZIE HUGHES: Just, I competed hard. I feel like on Wednesday I played my pro-am in the morning in the rain, got done and went to the range and just, I really didn't feel great about where my game was at. I was not hitting it the way I wanted to. I was kind of frustrated leaving the course Wednesday.

Just kind of made it a point I was just going to do everything I could to grind out the week, try to find something and focus on some simple things.

Really, it was just kind of a battle this week. I feel like I played some nice golf in stretches, but also felt uncomfortable at times, my swing didn't feel the way I wanted to at times. But yeah, I would say just the biggest thing was I competed hard this weekend and grinded.

Q. What are going to be the big takeaways of what you're saying?

MACKENZIE HUGHES: I feel like my game is close. I mean, I've had a down year, but nice to see a result like that. Gives me a bit of momentum for the last three. Obviously I still know I need more points and I need to keep climbing, but today was a big step in the right direction. I've kind of not had those big results. I finished 20th to 30th a lot and you don't get a lot for that. So to have a nice result this week and to see some good things happen was encouraging.

Q. On the same lines, are you kind of watching where you are and following the top-100 or do you see each week as an opportunity?

MACKENZIE HUGHES: Yeah, you get a text every week and you're aware, it's hard to hide from it. So I feel like I just want to know roughly where I'm at and what I need to do. I know I've got three in front of me. I still need to play some high-level golf down the stretch, but this certainly gives me some breathing room on the like 101 to 110 would be still an OK spot to end up. I feel like that gives me some breathing room, puts me in a decent spot for that.

Yeah, more than anything, this gives me a nice little kind of boost in the last three, and some confidence. Hopefully I can ride that into some more good play the last few weeks.
